SMART CITIES NYC '17

Smart Cities NYC '17 is an unprec-edented four-day event focusing on innovation, infrastructure, and inclusion, taking place at the Brooklyn Navy Yard in New York City, May 3-6, 2017. This immersive conference and expo will address the opportunities and challenges of new technologies and innovations in the context of rapid global urban-ization and speak to the importance of citizen participation in making cities "smart".

The most consequential event of its kind, SCNYC17 is a convergence of leading companies and CEOs, emerging startups, visionary entrepreneurs, thought leaders, academics, and representatives from city, state and national governments from across the United States and interna-tionally. Hosted by Mayor Bill De Blasio and the City of New York, it will feature in-depth discussions, provocative debates, practical work-shops, immersive participant experi-ences, product demonstrations, and project and partnership launches.

KEY THEMES FOR SCNYC17

· Education + Employment
· Energy + Resources
· Big Data + New Technology
· Governance
· Planning + Development
· Mobility
· Community + Culture
· Economic Empowerment

Through its global media part-nerships, SCNYC17 will connect an audience of millions to interactive demos, discussions, and events that showcase the groundbreaking ideas and new technologies changing lives in cities around the world.

Join us by visiting www.smartcities.nyc - limited discounted early bird registration is available now. For sponsorship details please contact: Brandon Tarbert brandon@smartcitiesnyc.com